FOREWARD

I TAKE great pleasure in presenting this catalogue to my customers and friends. I do not list a large collection, but such varieties that have been selected for their superiority in color, perfection of form, length and stiffness of stem, continuous blooming, etc. In the following selection the public taste is well satisfied. I aim to give prompt and careful attention. Prices are for divided field grown roots, pot grown bulbs or green plants. Either kind will give equally good results.

Terms—All retail orders are delivered prepaid.

Cash with order or in advance of shipment.

Special Offer—All orders amounting to $10.00 or over allowed 10% discount.

I guarantee all roots and plants to be healthy, and true to name. Having no control over them after delivery I do not guarantee them to live and thrive. They should be returned upon delivery if not satisfactory. As I desire to give satisfaction to all who have favored me with an order, notify me immediately of any error.

A SPECIAL OFFER ON POMPON DAHLIAS

These produce small compact flowers perfectly formed, reminding one of a miniature show dahlia. Very attractive. Unequaled for cutting and garden display. 25 cents each. 12 different varieties $2.50.

CULTURE OF DAHLIAS

ooOoo

The dahlia is one of the easiest of all flowers to cultivate and will produce more flowers than any other plant grown, flowering all summer and fall if the simple cultural directions are followed closely. They can be grown in any good garden soil, but if possible plant in an open sunny situation. Prepare the soil thoroughly by digging 12 to 18 inches deep in the fall, if possible, and again in the spring. Plant any time between April 20th and June 1st, digging holes six inches deep and from three to four feet apart. Then lay in the tuber flat on its side, the size of which makes no difference as long as it has one strong eye or sprout. Cover three inches deep, thus leaving the hole one half full, to be filled after plant comes up 6 to 8 inches above the ground.

As soon as the plant is large enough, cut out the top of it just above the second or third set of leaves, which causes the plant to grow a stout branch at the base of each of the four or six leaves left. Just as soon as the plants are up, the most important thing to do is to keep the soil loose and mellow by hoeing or cultivating once or twice a week and just as soon after each rain as the soil will permit. As soon as the buds appear stop all cultivation and give the bed a mulch of rotted manure, leaves, etc. Water the beds and plants thoroughly once or twice a week and specially during the dry weather. Tie each plant to a strong stake so it may have a strong support. To have the greatest success is to keep them growing as strong and sturdy as possible. Never allow the faded flowers to remain on the plant but cut them off with as much stem or stalk as you can. To have larger blooms it is necessary to disbud, leaving the center bud and taking off the side ones, leaving a stem approximately eighteen inches long. Dahlias will continue to bloom until a heavy frost kills the tops in late fall, after which the tops are cut off and the roots are dug and stored in a frost proof cellar or basement, covering with dry soil, sand or anything that will keep them from shriveling. Divide in the spring after the eyes begin to show.

DAHLIA SEED

Much pleasure can be derived from growing dahlia seeds. Dahlias grow very easily from seed. Plant early, then transplant after danger of frost. They will make large plants, the first year.

Great care has been exercised in the selection of these seeds. Their record speaks for themselves.

Seed artificially fertilized and gathered from the best varieties of Decorative Hybrid Cactus and Paeony dahlias. 50 cents a package.

A limited amount of choice Pompon seeds, 75 cents per package.

THE EAGLE*—(1920 Introduction)
